After World War II, Germany's foreign policy was heavily influenced by the need for reconciliation and denazification. The country's approach centered on rebuilding relations with its neighbors, especially France and Poland, and integrating into European institutions to ensure peace and stability. The European Union (EU) and NATO became cornerstones of Germany's security and diplomatic framework.

Current Challenges and Future Directions in Public Policy

Globalization and Policy Interdependence

The interconnectedness of economies and societies means domestic policies are increasingly influenced by international forces, requiring policymakers to adapt.

Emerging technologies impact policy areas such as privacy, security, and information dissemination, posing new regulatory challenges.

Partisanship and Polarization

Increasing political polarization complicates consensus-building and effective policymaking.
